"We take a multidisciplinary approach that follows the slow design philosophy —Vicente García Jiminéz and Cinzia Cumini

KITCHENbath

These elegant modular kitchens were designed by Vicente García Jiménez and Cinzia Cumini of García Cumini, based in Udine, Italy. Their Williamsburg kitchen island is ideal for prepping and sharing meals: it functions as a bridge, linking kitchen and living room. In creating The 50s, the firm was influenced by Poul Cadovius's Royal System, the era's iconic wall-mount storage unit. The aluminum uprights feature interior lighting and textured back Intarsio takes a different tack, concealing any cabinet contents behind doors that capitalize on the woodgrain's graphic qualities. All are supremely customizable. cesar.it
